Journey's End by R.C. Sherriff (6-8 Nov 2014)

Set in northern France, March, 1918. The British and German trenches are only 50 yards apart. A big German offensive is coming and nerves are on edge. Two new young Captains arrive to lead C Company in the defence of this wretched front line. Whiskey flows to steady nerves. A keen young Lieutenant arrives from the same school and is brother of a captain's girlfriend. The interaction between the officers as the German offensive draws closer is revealed:- a captain's right-hand man respected by all; a coward who feigns illness; a down-to-earth character; a cook; a veteran Sergeant and the Colonel link the Company and HQ respectively.

Casting is challenging - 11 roles from ages 18 to 55 (ish!).

Volunteers being sought to direct: please email the Secretary a.s.a.p. if you can help. Read through and audition dates 9th & 23rd June respectively: don't be shy; step up for a part, and help us put on a centenary-tribute befitting the sacrifices of the Great War.
